Biography of Stanislav Grof

Stanislav (Stan) Grof, noted psychiatrist, author, consciousness researcher, and pioneer of transpersonal psychology, was born on July 1, 1931 in Prague, Czechoslovakia to Stanislav (a chemical engineer) and Maria Petnik Grof. Heavily influenced by the works of Freud early in his studies, Grof was inspired to become a psychiatrist, and earned an M.D. at the Charles University School of Medicine in Czechoslovakia in 1956 and a Ph.D. at the Czechoslovakian Academy of Sciences in 1965.

Dr. Grof's interest in the clinical use of psychedelic substances was spurred in the 1960s when the Sandoz pharmaceutical company approached the Psychiatric Research Institute in Prague, requesting that studies be conducted on LSD-25 in order to ascertain whether or not the substance had therapeutic properties. Grof subsequently volunteered to participate in a research program which explored LSD as a tool for experiential training, allowing psychiatrists and psychologists to experience the "inner-world" of psychotic patients. He eventually became principal investigator of this program, and has gone on to devote his career to examining the therapeutic potential of psychedelic substances.

In 1967 he was invited to Johns Hopkins University as a research scientist, and in 1969 continued on at the Maryland Psychiatric Research Center where he served as Chief of Psychiatric Research and Assistant Professor of Psychiatry. In 1973, Grof became a scholar-in-residence at the Esalen Institute, a non-profit organization devoted to the exploration of human potential in Big Sur, California. There, he spent much time authoring books, giving lectures, and developing Holotropic Breathwork, an innovative form of experiential psychotherapy, with his wife Christina. Dr. Grof is also the founder and president of the International Transpersonal Association (ITA), and has organized major international conferences on transpersonal psychology.

Grof's major fields of research interest include therapeutic and heuristic aspects of non-ordinary states of consciousness; the use of psychedelics and non-drug techniques in psychotherapy; alternative approaches to psychoses; spiritual emergency and treatment of transpersonal crises; biology; brain research; and consciousness studies. He also maintains interests in other non-ordinary states of consciousness such as shamanism, Eastern spiritual systems, mysticism, the rites of passage of aboriginal cultures, and near-death experiences.

Dr. Grof is currently a Professor of Psychology at the California Institute of Integral Studies (CIIS) in the Department of Philosophy, Cosmology, and Consciousness, and teaches in the Pacifica Graduate Institute in Santa Barbara, CA.

In October 2007, Dr. Grof received a VISION 97 award granted by the Foundation of Dagmar and Vaclav Havel in Prague. The foundation's mission supports cultural and social projects with the potential to bring meaningful change to the future.

Dr. Grof has written extensively on LSD and its use in psychotherapy and about other methods and types of psycho-spiritual work.

Arrangement

Series I: Writings and Biographical Information, 1960-1985, (.5 linear feet): Series I contains information produced by Stanislav Grof. It is divided into five subseries: Manuscripts and Typescripts; Published Works; Presentations; Patient Notes; and Biographical/Promotional Material. Types of material include Grof's four-page recount of a dream which he presumably had at the Esalen Institute; articles authored or coauthored by Grof from circa 1960-1993; papers that Grof has written and/or presented at conferences which may or may not have been published; his doctoral dissertation (1965); an article Grof conducted with Albert Hofmann in 1984; a first-hand account of a therapy session from one of Grof's patients [access restricted]; Grof's notes on this particular patient [access restricted]; and clippings and biographical information on Grof from newspapers and magazines.

Series II: Student Experiences, 1981 (One folder): Series II comprises written accounts of students who participated in a weekend workshop with Grof at the California Institute of Integral Studies. Items are arranged alphabetically by author's last name. These items are restricted for use by the public, however, in some cases they may be made available for use with the sensitive information redacted.

Series III: Research Materials, circa 1950-1995 (7 cubic feet): Series III consists of secondary source materials Stanislav Grof consulted during the course of his career and is divided into 6 subseries: Research Studies, Projects, and Proposals; Research Articles; Conference Proceedings; Bibliographies, References and Citations; Journals and Pamphlets (arranged by title); and Books and Reports.

Subseries III-A (Research Projects, Proposals and Studies, 1965-1975; bulk 1968-1971) is arranged chronologically and consists of an application to administer LSD for training purposes, as well as information on a research study concerning DPT (Dipropyltryptamine) assisted therapy, presumably undertaken by Grof. It also contains an outline of a proposed study concerning the "Narcotic Addiction-Psychedelic Therapy Research Program."

Subseries III-B (Research Articles, circa 1950-1995) includes published and unpublished preprints, reprints, abstracts, and drafts of articles on the use of psychotropic substances as a therapeutic agent. It also includes book chapters, letters to the editor, and conference presentations. This subseries consists of both scholarly material as well as items that would appeal to a general audience. Articles have been arranged alphabetically by the primary author's last name. In cases where there are multiple articles by the same author, articles have been arranged chronologically by date when possible. A complete list of authors that appear in the subseries is available in Appendix One.

Subseries III-C (Conference Proceedings, 1968) contains selected papers and abstracts of the cancelled 4th International Congress of the European Medical Society for Psycholytic Therapy which was to be held in Prague, 1968.

Subseries III-D (Bibliographies, References, and Citations, circa 1958-1966) contains a collection of articles and citations pertaining to Dipropyltryptamine, extensive bibliographies and article citations pertaining to LSD, and a bibliography on psychotomimetics.

Subseries III-E (Journals and Pamphlets, 1966-1984) consists of journals which contain significant articles pertaining to or written by Stanislav Grof, or something pertinent to his research interests. Visually captivating items in this series include two issues of the Observer from 1966, a 1984 issue of Syphinx featuring Albert Hofmann on the cover, and an informational pamphlet on the Institute for Psychedelic Research of San Francisco State College. Other items of interest in this series include pamphlets entitled “God in a Pill?” and “Sessions Games People Play: A Manual for the Use of LSD”; a publication entitled “Hallucinations and Delusions” produced by the National Institute of Mental Health; and an informational pamphlet on phanerothyme.

Subseries III-F (Books and Reports, 1959-1985) contains seven items including the doctoral dissertation of Mary Elizabeth McCarthy; photocopies of unique monographs such as Joanna and Timothy Leary’s Neurologic; a handbook about using LSD in a therapeutic setting; and reports published by the Militarpsykologiska Institutet of Sweden.

Series IV: Photographs and Slides, circa 1970 (One folder): This series contains three photographs and one slide. Two of the photographs depict nature scenes and are dated May, 1971. One depicts three people on a covered porch, and has a caption written in Czech. The slide depicts a woman seated on a park bench.

Series V: Electronic Media, 1993-2008 (.5 cubic feet): This series contains CDs and/or DVDs of Stanislav Grof’s writings, presentation slides, biographical material, artwork, and photographs. The information on these CDs and/or DVDs has been copied onto a raid array server as a means of digital preservation. An extra set of copied files has been produced so that modifications (namely, file name and format changes) can be made for easier access and long-term preservation without compromising the archival integrity of the materials.

These electronic documents are located on a raid-array server entitled “Multimedia Dark Archive” in folders labeled by accession numbers. Within each folder resides two sets of the copied files: one set, entitled “ORIGINALS,” contains the files as taken directly from the CDs and/or DVDs ; the other set entitled “Modified Copies,” contains files that have been given file extensions when necessary (for ease of document retrieval); converted into .PDFs to ensure platform-independent accessibility over time, and renamed so that the title of the file mirrors the title of the document.

The original discs are located in Box 15 of the collection. A disc which appears to be corrupted (but still has some accessible material) is located in the Stanislav Grof Papers collection file.

To obtain access to these electronic files, please contact Purdue Archives and Special Collections staff.

Descriptive Rules [Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules, 2nd Edition / Describing Archives: A Content Standard]

Processing Information

All materials have been rehoused in acid-free folders and boxes. Rusted staples have been removed from the materials and plastic paper clips or file folder inserts have been used in their place. Oversized materials have been kept in their original series; however, items requiring storage in a larger container have been moved to a box labeled "OVERSIZE" and a separation sheet has been put in place where items have been moved from original location within the series.

Series III-2 (Research Articles) appears to have once been arranged with an alpha-numeric system, but upon consulting with Stanislav Grof about the practicality of maintaining this order, the alpha-numeric system was abandoned in favor of alphabetizing the articles simply by author's last name.

Portions of the collection contain sensitive information and have been restricted in order to respect confidentiality. These items have separated from their original location in the collection and moved to Box 16. They will be made available for research 2083.

Additions

Additional materials will be added to this collection.
